PRESIDENT TO FAVOR
ALASKA DEVELOPMENTWILSON GIVES UNDERWOOD PRO-MISE OF SUPPORT IN ALASKA
BILLS.DISCUSS CANAL TOLLSIncrease of Freight Rates on Eastern Railroads Under Discussion by Wilson and Chairman Clark.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Washington, Feb. 18.—President Wilson told Representative Underwood, the democratic house leader, today that members could be assured of his own support for the Alaska bill. Reports have recently been circulated that the president was opposed to it.

The Panama canal tolls repeal was also discussed at length by the president with Mr. Underwood but the majority leader declined to say anything about his conference. He was unwilling also to say whether he would vote for or against a repeal of the exemption clause.

Tells of Plans.
The president told Mr. Underwood he considered the international phase of the tolls question more important than the mere question of reversing a domestic policy. He emphasized his view of the necessity for a show of good faith by the United States on its treaty obligation.

The president had other conferences on the question with Senators Janes and Hollis. He was reported to have said he was asking congress to reverse itself because he thought it important to the foreign policy of the United States.

To Repeat Tolls.
President Wilson's plan to repeal the Panama tolls exemption came in for its first Senate debate today, during which it was characterized by Senator Bristow as an aid to transcontinental railroads. Senator Lodge, republican, and Senator Owen, defended the president's position while Senator Chamberlain, democrat, declined to agree with it. Mr. Bristow denied having impugned the president's motives. Senator Bristow told Mr. Wilson's attitude on the Panama canal plank of the Baltimore convention and on the suffrage question had "given us a line on some of the peculiar and interesting characteristics of our chief executive which may be exceedingly useful to the country in the future."He quoted the single presidential term plank and asked: "At the proper time will the president interpret this plank in harmony with his position as to suffrage on the canal tolls?"
Woman's Suffrage.
The woman suffrage constitutional amendment came in for talk, but no action today in the Senate. Senator Bristow charged President Wilson with being inconsistent when he declined to favor suffrage because it was not treated in the democratic platform, while he was asking congress to repeal the Panama tolls exemption, which the platform favored. Railroad Rates.
President Wilson conferred with Chairman Clark of the interstate commerce commission. Mr. Clark declined to say what had been discussed, but it was said at the White House that the president expressed deep interest in an early decision on the application of the eastern railroads for freight rate increases.The Burnett Bill.
Facing presidential veto of the Burnett immigration bill, should it pass congress with the literacy test provision incorporated in it, the Senate immigration committee today resumed consideration of the measure. The prospects were for a lively session, for despite President Wilson's opposition to the much discussed provision members of the committee were inclined to retain that feature in the bill as passed by the house. With the action of the Senate in repeasing over President Taft's veto the Dillingham-Burnett immigration bill a year ago, although it failed in the house, still fresh in their minds, members of the committee were discussing today prospects of similar steps should President Wilson carry out his intention to veto the present bill.Alaskan Railroad.
Detailed consideration of the Alaskan railroad bill was resumed today in the house with administration leaders confident that a final vote was near at hand. Debate on the measure had been closed and the reading for amendment was not expected to occupy many hours.

So far only one change has been made in the bill as it passed the Senate. The single amendment adopted was offered by republican leader Mann, and would empower the president to either lease the Alaskan road after it was built or have it operated by the government. With this exception the measure is expected to go to the conference between the two houses without material alteration.

The bill under which the government would build 1,000 miles of railroad from the Alaskan coast to the interior is heartily approved by President Wilson, and he is expected to sign it as soon as it reaches the White House.

SENATOR LEE BREAKS RECORD FOR MILEAGE
ACCOUNT IN CONGRESS(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Washington, Feb. 18.—Senator Blair Lee, Maryland's newest son, broke a senate record by receiving the smallest amount of "mileage" pay ever given any senator. He has been paid just $3.20 for expenses in traveling to and from Washington. Mileage allowances of Pacific coast members run over $1,200. Senator Lee got such a slim allowance because he lives only eight miles from Washington, D. C., just beyond the District of Columbia. Maryland lies twenty cents a mile for the round trip to the travel fee allowed. Senator Lee travels to and from Washington by trolley.

Former Senator Arthur P. Gorman of Maryland formerly held the record for small travel pay. Representative Carlin, living at Alexandria, Virginia, seven miles from here, receives the smallest mileage allowance in the house.

DENIES ENGAGEMENT OF
MISS MARGARET WILSON(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Washington, Feb. 18.—Publication of an official denial of a report that Miss Margaret Wilson, the president's eldest daughter, was engaged to be married to Boyd Fisher of Kansas City, Missouri, was requested today by the White House.THOUSANDS OF ACRES
READY FOR FARMING;
FIGHTING BUG PESTDepartment of Agriculture Studying
Methods to Prevent Weight Shrinkage While Shipping.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Washington, Feb. 18.—The "back to the soil" movement still has plenty of room to grow according to figures just made public by the department of agriculture which shows now there are today 330,000,000 acres of tillable land in the United States which have not been turned by a plow. In fact, only 27 per cent of the land of this country capable of being farmed is now under cultivation. The remaining 73 per cent does not include 61,000,000 acres which are non-tillable but valuable for pasture or fruit.

The most thoroughly cultivated states are Illinois and Iowa, where for every acre tilled there is 1.6 untilled. Indiana is next with a ratio of one to 1.3; in New York it is one acre tilled to 2.4 untilled, and that proportion is general throughout New England. Arkansas has the greatest proportion of untilled land, having 76.7 available acres to every acre on which crops are now raised in New Mexico. It is one to 32.2, in Nevada one to 23.3 and in Montana one to 11. California's rating shows one to 6.1.

The charge that J. F. MacMurray an Oklahoma lawyer, now living in Washington planned the alleged conspiracy against Thomas P. Gore, United States senator from Oklahoma, which resulted in his being sued for $50,000 for an alleged attack of Mrs. Minnie E. Bond was made in the trial here today.

Robert L. Rogers, addressing the jury for the defense, said that several years ago MacMurray tried to prosecute claims for nearly $3,000,000 from Indians of Oklahoma in connection with the transfer of their lands. He asserted Gore opposed MacMurray's claims and in retaliation the conspirators had been planned.

"Oklahoma has a home for such conspirators he shouted. It is over at McAllister." The state penitentiary is located at McAllister.

Three more attorneys were to follow Mr. Rogers, but it was expected the jury would get the case late to day.

SENATOR'S ATTORNEY
CHARGES MRS. BOND
KNEW OF CONSPIRACYAttorney of Little Rock to Address
Jury in Bond Damage Suit on Conspiracy Argument.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Oklahoma City, Okla., Feb. 18.—Robert L. Rogers, an attorney of Little Rock, Ark., today addressed the jury in the Bond-Gore case in the Senator's behalf. He insisted the senator in going to meet Mrs. Bond at her hotel was making no clandestine visit, that he had made it known before he left his office that he was going to the hotel to talk with Mrs. Bond.

Rogers contended that evidence in the trial showed that Mrs. Bond was a party in the alleged conspiracy against the senator and that she knew the motive behind it all was political opposition to the senator. "This woman," he said, "complains that on account of the publicity given the affair in the hotel she had been damaged $50,000. Who gave the affair publicity? She did and the three men with her in the conspiracy's rating shows one to 6.1."

MUNICIPAL MARKET
FAILS IN PURPOSEUnemployed in Chicago Fall to Trade
at Municipal Store Where Prices
Were at Cost.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Chicago, Feb. 18.—Chicago's unemployed did not flock to take advantage of the opening of the municipal market to sell them groceries at cost. Up to 9:00 o'clock there had not been a single customer—and all the municipal clerks had to do was to dust off the shelves where were beans priced at three and a half cents a pound instead of seven; soap at three and a half cents a bar; rice at two and a half a pound instead of six; bacon at seventeen a pound; rolled oats at two a pound; and canned goods at six.

First customers will not be questioned as to whether they have employment, according to county agent Meyer. Later he said, purchases will be investigated.

MORRIS TO CONFER
WITH LA FOLLETTEWill Seek Advice on Campaign Issues
in Race for United States
Senatorship.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Feb. 18.—That the issues that will be presented in the federal campaign for United States senator by Lieutenant Governor Thomas Morris of La Crosse, as a Republican candidate to succeed Isaac Stephenson, may be the same as may be presented in the next presidential election is indicated by the fact that Mr. Morris has gone to Washington to attend a conference. At the conference it is said those present will be Louis D. Brandeis, Senator La Follette, John R. Commons and other progressive leaders.

Mr. Morris left La Crosse yesterday and will stop in New York for a day, arriving in Washington about Friday morning.

NORTH DAKOTA FARMERS TO INSPECT DAIRY FARMS
ON A TOUR OF WISCONSIN

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Feb. 18.—Fifty North Dakota farmers will tour Wisconsin next week in a special train under the supervision of Prof. F. R. Crane, agricultural extension agent of the Great Northern railway. The object is to study dairy and livestock methods used by advanced farmers of the Badger state with a view of applying them to the possibilities open in western North Dakota. The party will visit West Salem, Feb. 23 and 24, Madison and the state agricultural college, Feb. 25 and 26. Rosendale Feb. 25. The party will include several prominent business men of North Dakota and well-to-do land owners who farm on an extensive scale. Prof. Crane was formerly connected with the Wisconsin college of agriculture.

RECOVERS FROM POISON TAKEN BY MISTAKE

Washington, Feb. 18.—Mrs. John A. Logan, widow of the civil war hero took a poisonous medicine at her home last night thinking she was taking a cold remedy and for several hours was in a precarious condition. Physicians gave antidotes in good time and today she was reported out of danger.

EX-STATE TREASURER DIES AT HIS BEAVER DAM HOME

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Beaver Dam, Feb. 18.—E. C. McFetridge, state treasurer of Wisconsin from 1887 to 1891, died at his home here Tuesday aged 78. FUNK PERJURY CASEWoman of Mystery, Who Admitted Charged Again Funk Were
"Framed" on Trial for Perjury.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Chicago, Feb. 18.—Hopes that the "high-ups" in the alleged conspiracy to kill Clarence S. Funk, former general manager of the International Harvester company, following his important testimony in the Lorimer serial investigation, might be dragged into the limelight, were renewed today when Miss Aileen Heppner, the "woman of mystery" in fake alibi suit against Funk, was placed on trial for perjury and conspiracy.

Miss Heppner, a pretty nurse, was the "star witness" in the suit brought against Funk by John Henning, who alleged alienation of his wife's affection. She testified that she saw Funk and Mrs. Josephine Henning together at the Grand Pacific hotel. Her testimony however was refuted by other witnesses.

The alienation, it was alleged, was caused by the girl's husband, John Henning, who had been confined since his overboard on Feb. 4th, and transported under military escort to the port of Callao, about six miles away, where he and his two companions were placed on board the Peruvian cruiser Lima.

Miss Heppner was not assaulted, a post mortem examination disclosed neither was she robbed.

TAKE FINGER PRINTS.

An endeavor is to be made to get finger prints from the timber with which Miss Hollander was beaten to death to compare them with those of Pepe.

Louis Hollander, father of the slain girl, swore an oath of vengeance today as he stood by her coffin.

"The murderer shall die," Hollander said whose pocket knife he found a few feet from the body of the girl in the burying ground. The name of the Aurora was on the knife handle.

Miss Hollander was not assaulted.

The coroner weighed anchor at four o'clock in the morning and left for Panama.

London, Feb. 18.—Final plans were approved today by the London Trades council for the proposed "Palace of Labor" to be erected by the Drury Lane district at the cost of approximately $275,000. Besides providing a large assembly hall for labor conventions and suitable meeting places for the various individual trades unions, the building will contain restaurants, club rooms and a moving picture theater. A unique feature will be a general store on the ground floor for the purpose of supplying food and clothing to members during times of industrial trouble or strike.

It is figured that by buying supplies at wholesale and furnishing them at cost price the unions will save at least 33 per cent in the handling of their strike funds. In the moving picture theater arrangements are being made to show special films "telling distinctly labor stories" which will be accompanied by a large orchestra and a pipe organ with music peculiarly adapted to the pictures. There are 1,200 unions in the Trades council, that is to say, 1,200 units of the general store.

The formal tender of the throne of Albania to Prince William probably will be made after his arrival at Durazzo, Albania, by the assembly of Albanian notables.

The prince will start his reign with only $1,000,000 of the $15,000,000 loan promised by the powers to finance his treasury. He had hoped to obtain an advance of two million, but the powers halved the amount.

MAKE MANY EXCUSES

Politicians in General Much Put to How to Evoke the Taxation Problem This Summer.

N. R. This is one of a series of articles on Wisconsin's politics written exclusively for the Gazette.

(Bob Ames) Do you remember the verse in the Bible where it is told that a man traveled from Jerusalem to Jerico and fell among thieves who robbed and beat him and left him lying by the roadside? Do you also remember how two men passed by and one crossed the road so that his garments would not be contaminated by the stricken victim, while the other bound up his wounds and cared for him?

Well, I tell you that the man who wants to win the vote of the average taxpayer this fall must be the good Samaritan who binds up the wounds of the poor taxpayer, who has been beaten and robbed by the outrageous taxation of the present state administration, and left by the roadside. The chap who passes this poor soul without even a word of sympathy might as well add his tent and retire for a week and punates as hope for political preferment.

According to the wise men of the ultra progressive democrats the next county convention will be held in Grant county. Well, that is not surprising to discover Grant county has suffered just as well as LaFayette, as well as Dane, Rock or Milwaukee, or in fact, in comparison with anywhere else in the state, Grant county is going to emulate the Minute Men of the Revolution, they must be up and doing. These conventions are a protest against existing conditions.

They are not, as I can learn, in the interests of any faction or any particular candidate, but simply to express the sentiment of those present as a protest against taxation without representation.

There was in Madison this week and learned that Hon. Burr W. Jones name is being seriously considered in some quarters for the job of United States senator. Now Mr. Jones is a strong man. A man who had had experience in the halls of congress, for one brief term when the state went democratic years ago, but he must first qualify by announcing his attitude on the questions before him.

He will be accepted by the powers that

I know he would not be acceptable to "Joe and I," particularly the "I" part of the firm, for he considers himself above reproach. ### STUDENTS AT NIGHT SCHOOL HEAR TALK

Warren E. Hicks, Head of Industrial Education in Wisconsin, Gives Able Address.

A large attendance of the students and industrial school were present last evening at the high school building, to listen to an address by Warren E. Hicks, of Madison, head of the Industrial Education in Wisconsin. Mr. Hicks was in the city yesterday investigating the local conditions, and also studying the health conditions of the city schools.

He gave an excellent address commenting upon the attendance, loyalty and improvements shown this year at the local night school. He stated that the facility which conducts the Janesville night school, is one of the best in the state. The health conditions in the city high school, were most favorably recommended by the speaker.

Mr. Hicks addressed the high school students this morning, on the subject, "General Efficiency." He had a good word for the local school, and he was heartily applauded when he closed his talk.

Many Pay Last Respects to Departed Citizen—Funeral This Afternoon—Elks Hold Services at the Chapel.

Funeral services for the late Albert Lawson were held this afternoon at twenty-thirty from the home, 221 South Third street, Rev. J. C. Hazen of the Baptist church officiating, being assisted by Rev. Henry Willmann of the Trinity Episcopal church.

The funeral was attended by a large number of friends that filled to capacity the residence. Members of Janesville grocery firms and others from neighboring towns were present in a body. The active "palablers" were members of the firm of the Jamesville Wholesale Grocer Company, which enterprise the deceased was owner.

They were Charles Chase, A. C. Munger, W. G. Flock, A. E. Lloyd, F. L. Colvin and Edwin Hemming.

The honorary pallbearers were A. P. Lovejoy, William B. Conrad, Stanley Durwiddle, Eugene Frendendall and Edward Bailey. The floral offerings were many and beautiful.

The Elks lodge had charge of the services at the Oak Hill chapel, where the remains were laid in the vault for the present.

STEAM SHOVELS QUIT AT PANAMA

The blowing up of Gambao dike let the water of the Chagres River into Culebra Cut and makes possible the completion of the Panama Canal by dredging. The dredges, working under the water, can take out more material in much shorter time than can the steam-shovels, but, nevertheless, the shovels were the tools that reduced Cerro Mountain and made the water way possible.

The last steam shovel to work in Culebra Cut was No. 210, manned by Frank Loulan, engineer, and S. H. Brian, cranesman. It picked up its last dumperful of earth on Thursday afternoon, September 11.

The whole history of mechanics contains no more thrilling story than the attack of the shovel gangs on Cerro Mountain. How the American spirit was displayed in the constant increase of efficiency is something of which every American must be proud.

The story of the cutting of the Cut through Cerro Mountain is vividly told in "The Panama Canal" by Frederic J. Haskin, and that it is accurately related is assured by Colonel Goethals who "O. K'd" the engineering chapters of the book.

This remarkable book is now being distributed by The Janesville Daily Gazette for the mere cost of production and handling. Save the coupons printed elsewhere in today's issue.

GOOD FEATURES OF INCOME TAX GIVEN AT BAPTIST MEETING

County Income Assessor F. A. Taylor Tells Why New Tax Was First Introduced.

The tax and assessment proposition, taking in detail the reasons why the income tax was first introduced in Wisconsin, was the subject of discussion last evening at the high school meeting, and supper of the Baptist Brotherhood, at which Frank A. Taylor, county income tax assessor, was the speaker.

Following a few remarks by J. B. Humphrey, who showed by statistics just where Wisconsin ranks among the other states of the Union, Mr. Taylor took the floor.

"This problem of taxes is a greater one than the majority of people believe," stated Mr. Taylor. "It is a fact, that to deal with taxes to any extent, requires a man who is really a statistician, and I am far from such at the present time."

"Somewhere in the Bible, I believe, it says that all men should be taxed. That must have been there for a purpose. We hear people talk of how these tax situations could be altered. Let me say that a change in administration would not alter conditions at all."

Mr. Taylor took considerable time in reviewing the history of the old personal property tax, which he stated was inherited from Michigan and Massachusetts. He pointed to Illinois, which today is operating under the old personal property tax which Wisconsin has been without for two years. "The old tax," said the speaker, "was unjust and the people of every city who administered it failed to leave even a sign in front of a store in reckoning up their budgets. They taxed bonds, stocks, furniture, musical instruments, rugs, and everything they got their eyes on. They are doing this very thing in Illinois today, and the people are becoming dissatisfied."

"In 1911 a change came about in Wisconsin, and after careful investigation the tax commission found the old tax to be a failure. The tremendous tax was rarely noticeable when looking over 473 estates in Wisconsin, and there was an assessment of $74,995 on this property, which was valued at $2,266,105. You see, the percentage was a fraction over three."

"In Milwaukee, under the same conditions certain tangible property was assessed at $30,390, or 54 per cent of the total valuation, which figures were only $148,309. In this reckoning the poor man was paying the greatest proportion of taxes in the world over."

The Fed ball party to be erected at Baltimore will be every bit as sumptuous as the one the Chicago Feds are planning. The specifications for the Baltimore club's home are all complete and the contract calls for its completion by the first of April. Nothing has been overlooked to make the place one of delight to all patrons. It will cost $75,000 when completed and will have a large stand as well as two pavilions and ample bleachers. The arrangements for the clubhouse, dressing rooms for players and so on have been given unusual thought and care. The Feds are sparing no plans to please one and all.

Garry Herrmann, the Cincinnati owner made his expense money and some more besides at the National league meeting last week, when he got into an argument with Mr. Lichtenheim, owner of the Montreal club. It appears that Lich—you pronounced it—had been anxious to sign Outfielder Doc Miller, owned by the Philadelphia National, but farmed out to Montreal last season.

However, he had recently been fisted with the Baltimore Feds and Lichtenheim was worried for fear that he would not be able to sign Miller. Herrmann kidded him a little about it. "I'll bet you $1,000 to $19 that you can't sign Miller within two hours," said Lichtenheim to Herrmann. In some heat, Garry put up his ten and Lichtenheim chuckled as he rubbed his hands. You see Lichtenheim thought he was sure that starting to climb in the past five years or so and never promised to go even a little further ahead. He was in New York and practicing for example, the Detroit club was a mediecle about three blocks away in 1913 they were a sixth place organization and yet much more expensive than in seasons when they another ten minutes he had collected pennants. There is a difference his thousand from Lichtenheim.

HIGHS AT ELKHORN ON FRIDAY EVENING

State Title Chances Are Just as Good Today as They Were Previous to Madison Conflict.

The Janesville high school basketball tossers are billed to play at Elkhorn Friday night, in another hard game. From what has been heard from the Elkhorners they are represented by an exceptionally strong live this winter and expect to give the Bovine City five a stiff struggle.

Captain Hemming's men are confident of a victory now that they have played in a good hard game. Madison is thanked a thousand times for agreeing to the game played last Friday night, for Janesville really benefited more than the results show. The locals were defeated 25 to 24, but are not sorry, for such a score does not show the inequality of either team. In fact Madison are not a better team than Janesville, and Janesville are no better than Madison. Both sides put up their hardest fight, taking all trivial matters, including sickness, etc., into consideration, and the game was without a doubt the hardest, speediest and cleverest contest ever staged on the high school gymnasium floor and perhaps in the city. There was not a minute's lag off by any man on either side during the entire forty minutes.

The defeat by Madison does not eliminate Janesville in the state title race, as the Beloit papers would have us believe. Such talk is absurd to the readers who know differently, the real facts to the situation. The Madison five are in reality in the central section of the state, which sections are divided by Lawrence College authorities, who manage the state tournament, who manage the state tournament. However, being so far south, it was considered that the winners of the Madison-Janesville game would be Southern Wisconsin champs, and today Madison high school hold that position. Janesville are in the southern section and have lost nothing through their defeat Friday by Madison.

The squad were out for practice this afternoon in what was a good scrum. Stewart's nose is back in good shape and Stickney is recovering from his illness. Hemming is in the pink condition, as are Atwood, Raw and Davis. The squad will make a renewed effort, beginning this week, and expect a hard game wherever they go.

MAKE SMALL CHANGES IN BASEBALL RULES

Coacher Not Allowed to Touch Base-runner, Runner Being Out if Stopped or Checked.

At the meeting of the major league rules committee at New York last week, the playing rules of baseball were amended somewhat, new rules being made to stop coaches helping baserunners along the paths, the rules allowing the runner bases when the fair hit ball is caught illegally, and the pitching rules amended.

The rules committee voted to pass the restriction on the coacher, to allow the base runner to use his own judgment, and if a runner rounds third base for the home plate is stopped or checked toward the other man is out. Under the new rules the coaches are allowed to verbally encourage the batsman as well as the baserunner. The rules heretofore only permitted the coacher to encourage the base runner but was never watched closely for violations.

In the case of a thrown ball hitting the umpire the batsman will be allowed to run as far as possible, this rule being changed from the old one which only allowed the base runner extra bases. In any event that a player stops a thrown or batted ball with any portion of his uniform or by throwing his glove, the base runner should be allowed two bases instead of three bases, when meant a score under the old rules.

When a ball hits an umpire after it gets away from an infilder the base runner is entitled to as many bases as he can get, where before the runner was sent back to the last base on the play.

The pitching rules were amended in such a way to allow slabmen to stand on the slab, being an amendment to the rule which compelled pitchers to stand back of the slab. Both leagues agreed on the infield fly rule, no runner being allowed to run on an infield fly, the batter being out, unless there are two outs when the ball is hit.

GIANTS LOSE MATCH GAME BY FIVE PINS

Maroons Nose Out Rivals in Close Contest at Y. M. C. A. Alleys Last Evening.

By a close margin last evening Huelbel's Giants were defeated by Kohler's Maroons in an exciting contest at the Y. M. C. A. alleys. The Maroons kept the lead throughout the three games, but toward the last of the third game it looked as though the Giants were going to make up the lead that the Maroons had gained during the first two games. The first game was won by the Maroons by exactly twenty pins, the second by seventy-three, while the third was won by the Giants with a majority of eighty-eight pins. This was five less than was needed to overcome the lead that the Maroons had taken in the first two games. The scores of the bowlers were as follows:

APOLLO THEATRE.

At least the best vaudeville offering of the year and probably one of the best ever shown here is the act of "Allen's Cowboy Minstrels" who deserved the place they were given as headliner. The four, three men and a girl, introduce some real harmony into their musical act, both their solo and ensemble work being far above the average of that in the usual "twice-a-day" turn. That the scenery is distinctive and elaborate aids in the pleasing effect of the act while the cowboy dress of members of the mixed quartet adds a touch of novelty. One or two touches of humor were injected in some jokes and clever imitations which drew laughter and applause. From start to finish the efforts of the cowboy minstrels received well deserved applause.

A clever and funny piece of business is where a couple of the boys are supposed to rope a pig, but after a long tug of war they pull in Mr. Allen on the end of the rope who has deceived the audience to such a great extent with his imitation of a hog that it makes an exciting climax.

Much Money for Tips.

A painstaking statistician has estimated that tips of one kind and another paid daily in Paris to waiters, janitors, cabmen, and the thousand and one others whose income is largely derived from this source amount to £2,320 a day. The grand total of all the tips given in France is placed at £12,884,000 a year.

STANDARD

Long Cut Tobacco

is the one perfect tobacco for the sturdy man who likes his tobacco rich, full-bodied and satisfying. Made of pure Kentucky leaf, aged carefully for three to five years so as to bring out all its natural flavor and sweetness. This is what makes STANDARD always the same: It doesn't depend upon one season's crop, like many tobaccos. We have several seasons' crops always stored away.

And that's why a STANDARD user never bothers experimenting with other brands. He knows the old reliable STANDARD never varies—it's the one tobacco that always satisfies him. Take STANDARD on the job for a week's try-out—after that you'll always carry STANDARD in your jeans.

FUTURE OF THE G. O. P.

It is interesting to note that former president Taft, the man who was betrayed by his friends and was the political shrine in 1912, reviews the question of the future of the republican party and finds it most hopeful. In deed in his article in the Saturday Evening Post Judge Taft is really optimistic. He does not express vain regrets for his office lost through treachery, but takes a broad-minded view of the whole situation.

He says one significant fact and that is that he seeks President Wilson to seek re-election regardless of the pledges of the Baltimore convention. In fact in this he voices merely the sentiments of all the democrats unless it be William Jennings and Champ Clark. The Chicago Inter Ocean summarizes the article by saying:

Noting that the progressive party is a combination of heterogeneous elements about the personality of Mr. Roosevelt, whose prestige is impaired by the break in his record as "the ever-victorious," Mr. Taft expects its evident disintegration to proceed. "The progressive party," as Mr. Taft accurately remarks, "was born in a passion and lived in an excitement that cannot be maintained permanently."

As compared with the democracy, the republican party has "less aspiring but more practical aims." That is true. It is also true, as Mr. Taft says again, that "the republican party has taken more real practical steps to curb the abuses of corporate franchises and to reduce the power of corporate control of public affairs than any other agency in politics."

The abiding asset of the republican party is that for half a century it has done the work which other parties merely talked about doing. It has favored all real and practical reforms—all proposals for "social justice" which do not start by assuming as true the absurdity that human nature can be made perfect by act of Congress. The republican party sees and acts on the truth thus stated by Mr. Taft:

Neither laws nor governmental care can supply the place and need of industry, fidelity, individual character and self-denial. Legislation cannot do it. Paternalism cannot. Socialism cannot. The taking away of individual responsibility always weakens the body politic. These are truths that should be pushed home.

In pushing them home is the republican party's hope and the country's salvation. It must first oppose the socialistic revolution which Mr. Roosevelt advocates despite his denials. And it must oppose the "recall" which is the keystone of the Roosevelt program's arch, and of which Mr. Taft rightly says that "no proposition is so utterly destructive of the administration of any kind of justice."

Mr. Taft correctly sees that the real issue that is forming is between rights in property and the socialistic denial of them, and urges the republican party to "grind on its armor" to convince the people of these truths:

A socialistic democracy does not mean liberty, but tyranny; not freedom, but slavery; not an equality of opportunity, but an equality between laziness and industry, with no profit for saving, no stimulus to improvement and no progress.

Assuming the republican party successful in defending the country against socialistic disintegration and so returned to power, Mr. Taft lays out a program for constructive action of which the leading items are these:

The amendment of the banking and currency act that shall furnish an elastic medium without giving arbitrary control to the government.

A wise system for conservation of national resources.

The reform of judicial procedure, eliminating delays and reducing cost.

Greater supervision of issues of securities by interstate corporations.

The continued enforcement of the antitrust law.

Workmen's compensation laws for interstate railroads, and regulating relations with employees, to prevent strikes and secure safety.

The improvement of rivers and harbors by a completed plan.

Model laws for the District of Columbia, as to control of public utilities, public health, child labor, tenement-houses, labor disputes, vocational education, charitable and penal institution, etc.

The stimulation of the merchant marine.

A permanent tariff commission with adequate power to ascertain facts about tariff operation.

An adequate Army and Navy.

A foreign policy that shall give us influence to aid China and our American neighbors in maintaining just and peaceful governments.

Here is assuredly an ample and practical program of real and constructive work. The republican party's most potent argument for power to do what is to all the people's advantage to have done is that from its beginning the republican party has shown more capacity to attend to the business of government than any other party whatsoever at any time in our history.

PLEASING STATISTICS.
According to the report issued and published broadcast there is less ignorance in Wisconsin at present than ever before. This will doubtless be true as regards taxation before the present campaign is over but it is nevertheless interesting to note that the percentage of illiteracy is rapidly decreasing in the state, according to statistics compiled by State Superintendent C. P. Cary. According to recent statistics there are 57,769 illiterates in the state, representing 3.2 per cent of the total population 10 years of age and over, as compared with 4.7 per cent in 1900. The percentage of illiteracy is 33.7 among Indians, 8.7 among foreign born whites, 4.5 among negroes and 0.9 among native whites.

THE FIRST DISTRICT.

It would be suicidal to change horses in mid stream for any one of good common sense just so it would be worse than foolish to dispense with the service of a man like Congressman H. A. Cooper just at the present status of affairs not only in Wisconsin but in the country at large, for such an untried quantity as Calvin Stewart of Kenosha. Mr. Stewart may be all right, but he is too light weight to be of much use to the old first Wisconsin congressional district down at Washington even with the democratic majority working over time to pass Wilson's pet measures through the senate.

CIVIC MATTERS.

Every citizen should have a pride in civic affairs. Should take a vital interest in the selection of the best man possible for the office of commissioner which is soon to be made. It is the man who stays at home and take no real part in the life civic or political of the community who are the loudest to voice their complaints when opportunity offers. There is plenty of time for good honest candidates to come out. Two aspirants for the office are already in field—the more the merrier—and the better able the public will be to make the right choice on election day. The majority rules, so pick good men for candidates.

February is a short month, the shortest in the whole year but oh my it is a fine one for holidays. First there is ground hog day, it ought to be legal holiday, but it is not. Then there is Lincoln's birthday. Then comes St. Valentine's day and last but not least Washington's birthday. But talking about February, have you noticed how cold it is?

It speaks well for Janesville that they contribute freely to the construction of a Y. M. C. A. and a few months later subscribe some twenty-five thousand dollars for a hospital building and within a few weeks donate twelve odd thousand dollars for a fair during the coming summer.

Janesville is down in the list of cities of the state where boxing is to be licensed. A club has been formed under the state law and bouts are to be held. Well the manly art of self defense is all right if not carried to excess.

What Janesville needs is a good awakening. This is what the directors of the Park Association plan if they succeed in raising the necessary money to conduct a fair properly next August. If you are not among the boosters, why join the procession.

This is not really good weather for golf but it is fine weather to plan on next summer's garden while cleaning the snow off your walk and wondering why you do it while your neighbor is immune for the work and his remains snowy and icy.

By the way have you compared your tax receipt with last years and then wondered what Governor McGovern and Prof. Adams really mean by all this?

Two Brothers.
Ezry Haskins was a fellow With a disposition mellow; Never grasin', never greedy. Always helped the poor and needy. Ezry made an honest million. And he might have made a billion if he hadn't always parted in manner open-hearted.

With such liberal wads of boodle, Never got it in his nozzle. That Dame Fortune's always fickle, and he should save every nickel. Ezry found that he had spent it—All that he'd accumulated.

Carriage to the poorhouse waited. And the home town weekly journal Hardly gave him any mention. He attracted no attention. It was just a "Village Jotin'." Poor old Ezry was forgotten.

Hiram Haskins, Ezry's brother, Seemed like he was of another breed of cattle—and he looked it. If there was a cent, he hooked it. He was miserly and grasin'. And his voice was hard and raspin'. He was always with the bidders on the mortgages of widders. He grew most amazin' wealthy.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE—DRINK TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full of anything. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip. As it opens the pores, bowels, thus breaking a cold at once. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

In a manner sharp and stealthy. Even when so rich he couldn't count his piles of gold he wouldn't count a nickel to the noddy. He was that darnation greedy. But the folks all catered to him, And gave him all honors due him, And his funeral was glorious, Like an emperor victorious. And the paper had a column Of a notice sad and solemn, And the whole town joined in grieving Over the old man who was leaving.

We don't know what happened to 'em When they both got what was due 'em, But we bet old Bill is wishin' For a change in his condition— Wishin' the eternal graces Would let him and Ez trade places.

Hints for Weddings.
Seven couples can go together and buy the bride and groom a set of nut-picks at an estimated cost of ten cents per couple. No wedding is a real success without four or five gross of nut-picks.

A granite shower is a cute and nifty event to pull off in honor of the bride. Any bride appreciates being hit in the head with a granite iron ket-tle and a shower of the kind saves the groom a lot of money.

When a couple get on the train to-day on their wedding trip, decorate their section and their baggage and make them look as ridiculous as possible in the eyes of the other passengers. This always adds much to the enjoyment of the trip.

All the married men present should shout loud when the bride promises to "obey." It is one of the seven original jokes and the best of the seven.

A Good Joke.
For ten long but blissful years they had walked along the path of love; but as yet the lovesick youth had never mentioned about their getting married. Courtship is very charming, but when there does not seem to be altar rails at the end of it girls naturally begin to lose interest in the game.

Anyhow, Jane thought it the time the marriage day was fixed, so she threw out a gentle hint to her lover by way of encouraging him. Encouragement, she thought, was all the dear fellow wanted.

"Nathaniel," she whispered, "they are saying we are going to be married soon."

"Are they, though?" answered the solid swain. "What a joke it will be on them when they find out we ain't."

Drug Clerk Tells How To Cure Indigestion

Recommends to Sufferers the Best Stomach Remedy in Janesville Today.

"It is a wonder some of us have stomachs left," remarked a well-known drug clerk recently. "While all drug stores sell a score or more of stomach remedies for which there is a wide demand, most of them are just pepsi pills which digest the food that is in the stomach at the time. They have no nutritive or strengthening effect on the stomach at all, and of course do not reach or cure the cause. So the same people keep coming here and buying and using them until they are real chronic dyspeptics. When anyone really asks my advice, I never recommend ordinary bisected magnesia, which doesn't digest the food at all but just acts as an antacid and sweetens the sour, fermenting contents of the stomach. That stops the pain, heart-burn, sour rising, wind, bloating, fullness, etc. in just a few minutes, and the stomach digests its food without help or trouble, which is the proper way."

Doctors make mistakes sometimes, too," he continued. "My own aunt had all kinds of trouble with her stomach for years. She bought and used several styles of digestive pills but got no worse right along, naturally she would. Finally she went to a doctor who nearly scared her to death, by telling her she had cancer of the stomach. That stops the pain, heart-burn, sour rising, wind, bloating, fullness, etc. in just a few minutes, and the stomach digests its food without help or trouble, which is the proper way."

The third of "The Adventures of Kathlyn," coming Saturday, is said by some to be even more thrilling than the first two installments.

Very few take the trouble that we do to keep in touch with the men who are producing the pictures. But we find, and you see, that it pays. Take, for instance, "An American King," which comes Sunday. Before this film was released, we had inside information that it was a winner so we did not rest until we secured a booking on it.

The Responsibility

For many of our misfortunes lies largely in our lack of forethought. We must look beyond tomorrow. It is a vital matter in these days of "high cost of living" to save out of present earnings, something for the future. It is not the 3% interest this bank pays on your deposit that is so important—to get into the habit of saving is of much greater importance.

DISPLACES HOT-WATER BAG

Electrical Device Which Is Safer and More Accurate Than Any Other.

The hot and otherwise questionable hot water bag has been displaced by an electrical device, which is endowed with many advantages over the older apparatus. The hot-water bag is an invaluable adjunct to any household, but it must be constantly renewed or minute holes appear in the rubber and a tiny leak will do a lot of damage before it is discovered.

The apparatus shown herewith consists of an aluminum case, in which is placed a heating element, and upon being connected with the lighting circuit any desired temperature between 100 and 200 degrees may be obtained for any length of time without the least variation. This even application of heat is a great advantage in a sick room, and one not to be secured with the hot-water bag, for the latter is constantly cooling.

COSTUME PARTY GIVEN AS A SURPRISE ON MRS. FLAHERTY

About fifty ladies surprised Mrs. W. Flaherty at her home an Academy street last evening. The ladies were all in fancy costumes. They met at the home of Mrs. W. T. Dooley and all went to the Flaherty home in a body. The prizes for the best costumes were awarded to Mrs. W. H. Brazzel, who took the part of a German woman. Mrs. D. W. Morrissey, who went as a colored mammy, Mrs. Wm. Schroeder, Mrs. Harry George and Mrs. H. Nelson wore beautiful Indian costumes, and there were many others worthy of mention. The game of 500 was played. Mrs. William Schroeder and Mrs. Fred Dixon won the prizes. The guests brought a bountiful supply of refreshments with them, which were served late in the evening, after which the guests danced until after the midnight hour, when they very reluctantly bade their hostess good night.

BROOKLYN

Brooklyn, Feb. 17.—The community was shocked Thursday forenoon to hear of the death of Clarence Millbrand, which occurred at Mercy Hospital in Janeville after a week's illness. An abattoir had formerly been his home, dealing in blood poison. Tuesday he was taken to the hospital and the last day of his illness inflammation of the brain set in.

He was born in Monticello July 29, 1902, where he had lived until two years ago when he, with his widowed mother and the other members of the family moved to Brooklyn. Clarence was a bright, amiable little fellow beloved not only by his playmates but had also won a place in the hearts of all who knew him. He leaves to mourn his loss his mother, four brothers, Clyde, Spencer, Frank and Earl, and two sisters, Ruth and Pearl. His father and one brother preceded him to the world beyond a number of years ago.

The funeral services were held Sunday at 10:00 a. m. at the home and at the M. E. church at Monticello at 2:00 p. m. Rev. Barnett of this place conducted both services. Interment was in the Monticello cemetery. The floral offerings were beautiful, the various grades and the high school, the W. C. T. U. The Camp Fire Girls, the Loyal Temperance Legion, the Sunday school, the Elworth League and the Junior League all contributing. The pallbearers were six of his playmates: Maurice Waite, Bernie Christian, Cyril Graves, Carl Karmgard, Harley Rasmussen and Phillip Wackman. The flower girls were: Mary Burt, Jessie Waite, Ava Winter, Mabel Holberg, Elva Hotberg and Gladys Robbins.

Saturday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Johnson came to town and on their return home found their hired man, who had given his name as Frank Howard gone. After searching the house they discovered that he had taken with him two gold watches, five dollars in small coin and a hundred and seventy dollars belonging to Andrew Johnson out of a trunk. Then he walked to Brooklyn and hired the liveryman, William Hickman to take him almost to Oregon. From there he walked into town, purchased a fur lined overcoat and fur cap and boarded the five o'clock train for Madison. Since then no trace of him has been found.

Mrs. Charles Hock spent several days last week with relatives in Evansville. Miss Beth Ingles of Whitewater was at her uncle, G. E. Waite. Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Smith entertained a number of friends at a six-thirty dinner and a Valentine party Friday evening.

The teachers of the public school attended the convention of the Southern Wisconsin Teachers' Association at Madison Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. Andrew Crahen was an Evansville visitor Friday.

About forty of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Ellis gave them a surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ellis Wednesday evening.

All report a pleasant time.

S. C. Morgan, from Minnesota, is visiting relatives and friends in Orfordville.

The bob ride social, which the Elworth League are planning to hold at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Best, will be held on Thursday evening instead of Friday, as had been announced. The change is made so that the date will not conflict with that of the Lutheran Young People's Society, which is to meet at the same time.

Miss Jessie Kelley of Evansville and Mesdames Arthur Wiggins and O. N. Nelson of Janeville have issued invitations to a kitchen shower to be given at the home of the latter, on Court street, on Saturday, Feb. 21, in honor of Miss Lydia Bernsteiné of Brodhead, whose marriage to Byron Grenawalt has been announced.

Norvol Hendrickson has gone to Darlington and has engaged with the Republican Journal of that city.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

THE HOUSEHOLD-EFFICIENCY CLUB

HAVE always held that one of the peculiar little psychological differences between the male and female mind is that men like to read directions, prefaces, foot-notes, etc., while women usually skip such things. A man has just joined our Efficiency Club by sending in his contribution and this is what it is.

"I take it even more men may give a hint for your 'short cut' in house-keeping. Years ago I took time to read one of the little ads that each package of soda contains, and since then have been putting a tablespoon of baking soda in the dishpan and washing the silver in that without any soap in hot water. Consequently we do very little scouring of silver in our kitchen. Try it and see. Of course egg stains need the scouring compound."

Men are more welcome in our club. Also any of his brothers who have a contribution to offer. By and by, I think it may interest some of my readers to know that he is not a man who stays at home and does the housework, while his wife is a wage-earner, but the president of a large and successful coat company.

"Nothing is more trying to a busy housewife," writes a feminine reader friend, "than to ruin a bit of nice ironing by scorching. The next time you do this, instead of washing the garment all over again, try scrubbing it with a damp cloth and if the scorch is not too deep it can be removed in this way."

Another reader tells about a pen-holder saver used by a woman who has to get up lunches for her family. It is a device which she calls "the lunch cart," a small washstand or commode which stands in front of her pantry window and not far from the kitchen table. In the large top drawer, wrapping paper, parafine paper and paper napkins are kept; above the "lunch wagon" hangs a ball of cord and a pair of scissors; in one of the small drawers, cookies, pickles, relishes, etc.; and in the remaining compartment are kept empty boxes of convenient size for lunches.

The possessor of this unique contrivance can put up a dainty and attractive lunch in ten minutes without moving three feet from the "lunch wagon."

Household Hints...

THINGS WORTH KNOWING:

To keep old potatoes from turning dark when boiling add a tablespoonful of sweet milk to the water in which they are boiled.

Turpentine or benzine will remove paint stains.

A pinch of salt will prevent the sputtering of candles.

Just now when eggs are so high, try a good-sized pinch of flour stirred in dry coffee, before putting the water on; as good as egg to settle it.

THE TABLE

Sausages and Apples—Lay sausages (bulk sausage meat is best) in a frying pan, cover with hot water and bring quickly to a boil. At the end of five minutes pour off the water and fry on both sides, turning twice. Remove them, drain over pan, and lay in a hot colander in the open oven, while you fry sliced apples in the fat.

Salmon Loaf—Flake cold boiled salmon and moisten it with a gill of cream, a half-gill of milk, and two beaten eggs. Stir in a handful of the crumbs, the juice of half a lemon, a tablespoonful of butter, salt and pepper to taste, and a tablespoonful of minced into a greased pudding-dish, and bake in a steady oven for about three-quarters of an hour, then turn out upon a hot platter. Serve with a white sauce. You may also boil this in a covered mold.

Corn Bread—Beat two eggs light; stir half a cupful of cold boiled rice into a pint of milk and add to the eggs, rice and milk a tablespoonful of melted butter. Sift a teaspoonful of salt into two cups of Indian meal; stir all together and bake in shallow pans. Eat hot.

Rhubarb Pudding—Grease a pudding-dish and put into it a layer of bread-crums that have been soaked in a pint of water to which have been added the juice of a lemon and a half cupful of sugar. Sprinkle these crumbs with bits of butter and pour over them a thick layer of stewed rhubarb well sweetened. Now add more crumbs and more rhubarb, and proceed in this manner until the dish is full. Sprinkle the top of the pudding with dry bread-crums dotted with bits of butter. Bake, covered, for half an hour; uncover, and bake for ten minutes longer. Eat with hard sauce, flavored with powdered nutmeg.

Chocolate Souffle—Cook together in a saucepan a tablespoonful of butter and two of flour, and as these thicken, stir into them six tablespoonsfuls of sweet milk. Beat thick and mix, then pour upon the yolks of three eggs that have been beaten light with two tablespoonsfuls of sugar. Whip hard, adding four tablespoonsfuls of grated sweetened chocolate, until the mixture is lukewarm; put on the ice a cool, covering it to keep a crust from forming on the top.

When cold add the stiffened whites of the eggs, fold these in lightly and bake in a quick oven. Serve at once with sweetened whipped cream.

Scalloped Eggs—Three hard-boiled eggs, one pint of white sauce, three-quarter cup of chopped cold meat, three-quarter cup of buttered cracker crumbs.

Molasses Taffy—Boil a pint of molasses for twenty minutes, then stir in two tablespoonsfuls of baking-soda and boil for fifteen minutes more, or until a little dropped into cold water is brittle. You must stir the taffy constantly while boiling, or it will scorch. When it is done add a teaspoonful of vinegar and pour into buttered pans, or pull to a light brown.

Brown Bread—Grease a pudding-dish and put into it a layer of bread-crums that have been soaked in a pint of water to which have been added the juice of a lemon and a half cupful of sugar. Sprinkle these crumbs with bits of butter and pour over them a thick layer of stewed rhubarb well sweetened. Now add more crumbs and more rhubarb, and proceed in this manner until the dish is full. ## ALFALFA IS PRAISED AS CROP FOR COUNTY

VALUE AS FORAGE CROP SHOWN BY ALLAN WEST IN WEEKLY ARTICLE.

PRODUCES BIG PROFIT

Points Out Reasons for Few Failures and Their Remedy—Land Must be Well Drained.

(By Allan B. West.)

In an article published in the Gazette of Feb. 11, the writer showed the value of alfalfa as a forage crop and that all kinds of live stock could be fed on it at a greater profit than on any other one crop; also that more food can be grown on an acre sown to alfalfa than with any other crop. Illinois has a banker by the name of A. P. Grout, who lives at Winchester, Illinois, near which he owns a large farm. In 1910 he gave an address before group 3 of the Illinois Bankers Association at Carrollton on "Banking and Farming," in which he urged bankers to "promote their own interests by encouraging better farming and enthusing the farmer with the spirit of the new scientific agriculture." From it the following is quoted:

"I desire to call your attention to one movement, which I believe to be of more importance, and which if developed to the extent that it may be, add more to the wealth of Illinois than any other one thing that can be done. Concerning it ex-Governor Hoard of Wisconsin says that the alfalfa movement is the most important event of the century. Concerning alfalfa and its significance to Kansas, where the latest reports show in round numbers 1,000,000 acres in cultivation, a prominent gentleman of that state says: 'Were I called upon to say what single product of the soil would probably assume the greatest importance in the near future, I would say alfalfa.'"

Now the writer is convinced that what is true of alfalfa in Illinois or Kansas is equally true of Rock county, and the sooner the farmers of the county come to a realization of their opportunities in this direction the better. Then why is not more alfalfa raised in the county?

One farmer says "it won't grow on my land." Another, "I tried it and it killed out the first winter."

Now it has been proven by actual experience of farmers throughout the state that alfalfa can, under proper conditions, grow on all kinds of soil, rich or poor, sand, clay or loam.

The key to the situation is the understanding of the proper conditions. These have been learned by experience of pioneers in alfalfa growing, but one who will take the trouble to read on the subject may now have the benefit of these experiences and learn in a few hours' reading what others have learned in experiments costing years of time and many crop failures.

The failure of the crop may result first from poor drainage. Alfalfa will not stand wet feet." The land must be drained. The water level should not be less than three feet below the surface. The water should never stand upon the alfalfa and very level land is to be avoided from the fact that a rain followed by freezing weather will rain ice which will smother out the plants. Second—The failure of the crop may result from an acid condition of the soil.

In addition to the food which the plant gets from the soil through its roots it must have nitrogen from the air. Now this is one of the important things for the alfalfa grower to understand—the demand for the soil for nitrogen and how it is supplied for failure to secure right conditions here probably accounts for the greatest number of failures in alfalfa growing.

Said one Rock county farmer: "I can grow alfalfa on one-half my farm, that composed of sandy knolls, but on the prairie soil it won't grow." Now the trouble was not with the drainage here, but with the acid conditions of the prairie soil, half of the farm.

The alfalfa gets its nitrogen from the air by means of bacteria which live in nodules on its roots, and these bacteria will not live in acid soils. Three—the failure of the crop may result from the fact that the soil does not contain a sufficient number of these nitrogen gathering bacteria to furnish the plants with the requisite amount of nitrogen.

Where sweet clover grows as a weed by the wayside these bacteria are usually present in the soil of the adjacent farms and need not be supplied, but where this is not the case, dirt taken from an alfalfa field or dirt taken from the wayside where the sweet clover does grow, about 100 pounds to the acre, will furnish this bacteria. This is not a matter of speculation but has been proven effective time and again on farms where alfalfa has been grown.

The objections to alfalfa raising in Rock county are easily and cheaply met. What has been done may be done, and the truly progressive farmer will not rest until he has studied the matter and found out from the abundant literature on the subject and from interviews with successful growers of alfalfa how he may increase his own profits and add to the value of his land by the growing of this wonder crop.

The writer is not a practical farmer but has a liking for land, and having a few years since an opportunity to buy a piece of land at $300 per acre, he invested, though dreading at the price. He has put the land into alfalfa and counting the value of the crop at the low price of $12 per ton the investment is yielding him, after paying the taxes on the land (and they are not low) 9 per cent interest. Three hundred dollars is a good price for farm land, but even that seems to pay when put into alfalfa. Why not have more of it?

EDWARD ATWOOD IS CHOSEN RUSK HEAD

Senior Member of Society is Elected President for Second Semester.

Other New Officers.

The Rusk Lyceum meeting, held last night at the high school, was turned over to the electing of new officers for the second semester. Edward Atwood was chosen president of the literary club by unanimous vote. Other elections to the various offices are as follows:

Vice president—Russell Smiley. Secretary—Allan Dearborn. Treasurer—Leslie Stewart. Sergeant at arms—Maurice Dalton. Chairman standing committee—Sherwood Sheldon.

A special subcommittee to look to the purchasing of the three fobs presented each year to the three senior members who have proved an especially good society, was named. This committee, composed of Alan Dearborn, chairman, Malcolm Douglas and Leslie Stewart, will also select the three members whom they believe deserve the fobs.

The meeting last night was mercifully short, the program being postponed until a later time. Prof. Barber acted as critic at the meeting.

FIRST PAYMENTS ON HOSPITAL FUND DUE

Less Than Half of the Subscriptions Due on the First Installment Are In.

Payments of the first installment of the pledged funds for the hospital subscribed some time ago, are not coming in as fast as they should, according to Treasurer S. B. Smith. Altogether up to the present time there has been paid in about $7,500, of which $5,100 was paid in at the time of the campaign. The amount of this month there was due about $2,400 of which only $1,100 was paid in. Mr. Smith felt that no notices should be sent to subscribers under the conditions as imposed by the agreements of the campaign, it is the desire of the committee to call the attention at this time of those who were kind enough to sign up cards for quarterly payments. It is not necessary for the payments to be made immediately, but within the course of the next few weeks most of the amount to be paid on the first installment should be paid in.

The hands of the treasurer, Mr. Smith, who will receive payments at the Merchants' and Mechanics' bank,

CLINTON

Clinton, Feb. 17.—Miss Beulah Shepard has returned from her visit in Washington, D. C., which she enjoyed greatly.

The first year English class of the high school visited the Dry Milk company's plant and were kindly shown all through the institution and points in the process of turning milk into a dry powder by the obliging manager, Leo J. Heavy.

The Knights of Pythias lodge will give a grand ball Monday evening, Feb. 23, at the new city hall, which without doubt will be the biggest and most pretentious social affair ever given in Clinton. Hatch's full orchestra of Janesville will render the music.

Every assurance is given that this grand ball will draw the largest crowd ever at a dance in Clinton. Invitations have been sent to K. P. s at Janesville, Beloit, Delavan, Elkhorn, Sharon, Harvard, and the surrounding towns. A great number of delegations have been made. Not only members of the lodge but everybody is invited. Perfect order and decorum is assured. Everybody welcome.

Mrs. A. S. Parker will go to Chicago Friday to attend a wedding.

Ray Conley came down Saturday evening from the state university to visit his parents over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Reeder treated several of their friends to a delightful bus ride Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Riley and Mr.

and Mrs. N. A. Wood drove up Sunday from Beloit to visit Mrs. Kelly's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Graves.

The Women's Missionary society of the Congregational church held a regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Della Smith Friday.

The meeting was a most delightful one.

The program is reported as one of the best ever given by that active wide awake society.

The luncheon was very bountiful and of great variety.

About thirty ladies were present and had the pleasure of being hostesses to Mesdames Parsons and Smith of Delavan and Hubbard of Beloit.

Miss Edith Cooper attended the formal of her sorority at Beloit Saturday evening and was an honored guest at the junior house.

Mr. E. G. Pease spent Sunday with his husband at the sanitarium in Milwaukee, and upon his return yesterday afternoon reported Mr. Pease as in great pain and suffering greatly from rheumatic pleurisy. The many friends of Mr. Pease sincerely regret to hear of his condition and all express hope for his speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Kemmerer went to Milwaukee Saturday to visit a cousin of Mrs. Kemmerer until Wednesday.

Miss Edna Kinsion went to Milwaukee Saturday to spend Sunday with her brother George.

Pat Gary went to Janesville yesterday between trains.

NORTH SPRING VALLEY

North Spring Valley, Feb. 16.—William Acheson is spending a few days at T. T. Harper's.

Will Nyman attended a sale in Center last week.

Albert Palmer delivered cows in Evansville Monday. They were shipped to Montana.

Hermon Mai attended the co-operative dinner in Brodhead Thursday.

Mack and Tom Harper are hauling saw logs to the lumber mill near Orderville.

Otto Hagemann was a business caller at Evansville Monday.

Mr. Walters has started a milk route to the Footville condensery.

Mr. Thorson is moving to a farm at Orderville.

Oscar Grandgaard was an Orfordville caller Monday.

Miss Berryman, who has been assisting her sister, Mrs. Nyman, recently, has returned home Monday.

Glen Palmer and family were Evansville callers Saturday.

There will be a basket ball game Friday evening, Feb. 20, in Masonic hall, between Janesville high school Reserves and Footville. This is something new to Footville. Come out and encourage the boys.

The contest between the Sunday school of the Christian church and Ladysmith school is attracting much attention. Last Sunday there were 113 at Sunday school with an offering of $15.35, despite the fact it was cold and stormy. We think we can teach the city schools something about Sunday school. Everyone cordially invited next Sunday at ten o'clock.

PARALYTIC STROKE TAKES PROMINENT BELOIT MAN

John R. Booth, Aged 87 Years, Died Yesterday at His Home in Beloit.

Judge John R. Booth, for sixteen years police justice for the city of Beloit and a former alderman, died Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock at his home, 623 Bluff street, Beloit, following a stroke of paralysis. The venerable man had been in feeble health for some time and a paralytic stroke last Friday left him very low. This was followed by a second stroke yesterday morning, which was the cause of death.

Judge Booth was high in Masonic circles and had for many years been prominent in the various activities of the civic life. He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Miss Mary Booth.

Mr. Booth was born at Montgomery county, New York, June 30, 1827. He was interested in the woolen mills business in New York state before he removed to Joe Daviess county, Illinois, in 1854, where he became agent for a railroad company at Warren.

FRAIL, SICKLY CHILD

Restored to Health by Vinol—A Letter to Mothers.

Anxious mothers often wonder why their children are so pale, thin and nervous and have so little appetite. For the benefit of such mothers in this vicinity we publish the following:

Mrs. M. L. Cassaday, of Thomasville, Ga., says: "My little daughter was anaemic, delicate and nervous, she had no appetite and seemed listless. We could not seem to find anything that would help her until we were advised to give her Vinol. Inside of two weeks after taking it she showed a marked improvement, both in appetite, vim and looks. I continued giving it to her and words fail to express my gratitude for what Vinol has done for her."

This child's recovery was due to the combined action of the medicinal elements extracted from cods' livers, combined with the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron contained in Vinol.

Vinol will build up and strengthen delicate children, old people, and the weak, run down and debilitated. We return the money in every case where it fails. Smith Drug Co., Druggists, Janesville, Wis.

P. S.—Eczema Sufferers! We guarantee our new skin remedy, Sazo.

Columbus.

Christopher Columbus was not, from all accounts, a Jew. Columbus was an Italian. Among the officers and sailors there was a Jew named Luis de Torres, an Irishman named William Harris, and an Englishman or the name of Arthur Laws, or Larkins. The rank and file of the men were Portuguese, Spaniards and Italians.

DON'T TRUST CALOMEL

THOUSANDS EXPERIENCE BAD AFTER EFFECTS FROM THIS DANGEROUS DRUG.

A Safe Vegetable Substitute is Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets for the Liver.

Dr. F. M. Edwards, a prominent physician of Ohio, has discovered a laxative and liver toner in a combination of vegetable materials mixed with olive oil, which is in effect almost exactly like calomel, except that there are none of the bad after effects.

Dr. Edwards has long been a foe of calomel, though he recognized its value along with its dangers.

His distrust of the uncertain drug eventually started him, years ago, towards experiments with the view of discovering a substitute, and he has been for several years in possession of the long sought-for combination, which is in the shape of a little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablet.

The results of 17 years' experience and practice are embodied in these marvelous little tablets.

They are called Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. And their effect on the liver has been the means of relief to many of Dr. Edwards' regular patients as well as to thousands of others who have suffered and were afraid of calomel.

There is no necessity, when you take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, by following them up with nasty, sickening gripe salts, or castor oil, as you do after taking calomel. Try them. 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O. All druggists.

THEY ALL DEMAND IT

Janesville, Like Every City and Town in the Union, Receives It.

People with kidney ills want to be cured. When one suffers the tortures of an aching back, relief is eagerly sought for. There are many remedies today that relieve, but do not cure. Doan's Kidney Pills have brought lasting results to thousands. Here is Janesville evidence of their merit.

Mrs. Nels Thompson, 222 Park St., Janesville, Wis., says: "My kidneys bothered me quite a bit by acting irregularly and had bad attacks of rheumatism. When I was sick, I had sharp pains through my back. At other times there were dull nagging pains in the small of my back. One of my acquaintances had used Doan's Kidney Pills, so I took them. They soon stopped the pain. I still take Doan's Kidney Pills once in awhile and they tone up my system. They have done so much for me that I want to let other kidney sufferers know about them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

"There is time enough for that," said Mrs. Wrandall quickly. "And if they are not there, you will return to me? You will not desert me now?"

The girl's eyes grew wide with wonder. "Desert? you? Why do you put it in that way? I don't understand."

"You will come back to me?" insisted the other.

"Yes. Why—why, it means everything to me. It means life—more than that, most wonderful friend. Life isn't very sweet to me. But the joy of giving it to you for ever is the dearest boon I crave. I do give it to you. It belongs to you. I—I could die for you."

She dropped to her knees and pressed her lips to Sara Wrandall's hand; hot tears fell upon it.

Mrs. Wrandall laid her free hand on the dark, glossy hair, and smiled; smiled warmly for the first time in years she might have said to herself if she had stopped to consider.

"Get up, my dear," she said gently. "I shall not ask you to die for me—if you do come back. I may be sending you to your death, as it is, but if it is the chance we must take. A few hours will tell the tale. Now listen to what I am about to say—to propose. I offer you home, I offer you friendship and I trust security from the peril that confronts you. I ask nothing in return, not even a word of gratitude. You may tell the people at your lodgings that I have engaged you as companion and that we are to sail for Europe in a week's time if possible. Now we must prepare to go to my own home. You will see to packing my—that is, our trunks—"

"Oh, it—it must be a dream!" cried Hetty Castleton, her eyes swimming. "I can't believe—" Suddenly she caught herself up, and tried to smile. "I don't see why you do this for me. I do not deserve—"

"You have done me a service," said Mrs. Wrandall, her manner so peculiar that the girl again assumed the stare of perplexity and wonder that had been paramount since their meeting, as if she were on the verge of grasping a great truth.

Sara laid her hands on the girl's shoulders and looked steadily into the puzzled eyes for a moment before speaking.

"My girl," she said, ever so gently, "I shall not ask what your life has been; I do not care. I shall not ask for references. You are alone in the world and you need a friend. I too am alone. If you will come to me I will do everything in my power to make you comfortable and—contented. Perhaps it will be impossible to make you happy. I promise faithfully to help you, to shield you, to repay you for the thing you have done for me. You could not have fallen into gentler hands than mine will prove to be. That much I swear to you on my soul, which is sacred. I bear you no ill-will. I have nothing to avenge."

Hetty drew back, completely mystified.

"Who are you?" she murmured, still staring.

"I am Challis Wrandall's wife."

CHAPTER IV.

While the Mob Waited.

The next day but one, in the huge old-fashioned mansion of the Wrandalls in lower Fifth avenue, in the drawing-room directly beneath the chamber in which Challis was born, the impressive but grimly conventional funeral services were held.

Contrasting sharply with the somber, absolutely correct atmosphere of the gloomy interior was the exterior display of joyous curiosity that must have jarred severely on the high-bred sensibilities of the chief mourners, not to speak of the invited guests who had been obliged to pass between rows of gaping bystanders in order to reach the portals of the house of grief, and who must have reckoned with extreme distaste the cost of subsequent departure. A dozen raucous-voiced policemen were employed to keep back the hundreds that thronged the sidewalk and blocked the street. Curiosity was rampant. Ever since the moment that the body of Challis Wrandall was carried into the house of his father, a motley, varying crowd of people shifted restlessly in front of the mansion, filled with gruesome interest in the absolutely unseen, animated by the sly hope that something sensational might happen if they waited long enough.

Motor after motor, carriage after carriage, rolled up to the curb and emptied its sober-faced, self-conscious occupants in front of the door with the great black bow; with each arrival the crowd surged forward, and names were uttered in undertones, passing from lip to lip until every one in the street knew that Mr. So-and-So, Mrs. This-or-That, the What-Do-You-Calls-ems and others of the city's most exclusive but most garishly advertised society leaders had entered the house of mourning. It was a great show for the plebeian spectators. Much better than Miss So-and-So's wedding, said one woman who had attended the aforesaid ceremony as a unit in the well-dressed mob that almost wrecked the carriages in the desire to see the terrified bride. Better than a circus, said a man who held his little daughter above the heads of the crowd so that she might see the fine lady in a wild-beast fur. Swelling funeral New York ever had, remarked another, excepting one 'way back when he was a kid.

At the corner below stood two patent wagons, also waiting.

Inside the house sat the carefully selected guests, hushed and stiff and gratified. (Not because they were attending a funeral, but because the occasion served to separate them from the chaff; they were the elect.)

Strangely enough, the three of them perfected a curiously significant record of conjugal endowments. Challis had always been the wild, wayward, unrestrained one, and by far the most lovable; Leslie, almost as good looking but with scarcely a noticeable trace of charm that made his brother attractive; Vivian, handsome, selfish and as cheerful as the wind that blows across the icebergs in the north. Challis had been born with a widely enveloping heart and an elastic conscience; Leslie with a brain and a soul and not much of a heart, as things go; Vivian with a soul alone, which belonged to God, after all, and not to her. Of course she had a heart, but it was only for the purpose of pumping blood to remote extremities, and had nothing whatever to do with anything so unutterably extraneous as love, charity or self-sacrifice.

As for Mr. Redmond Wrandall he was a very proper and dignified gentleman, and old for his years.

It may be seen, or rather surmised, that if the house of Wrandall had not been so admirably centered under its own vine and fig tree, it might have become divided against itself without much of an effort.

Mrs. Redmond Wrandall was the vine and fig tree.

And now they had brought her dearest beloved son home to her, murdered and disgraced. If it had been either of the others, she could have said: "God's will be done." Instead, she cried out that God had turned against her.

Leslie had had the bad taste—or perhaps it was misfortune—to blurt out an agonized "I told you so" at a time when the family was sitting numb and hushed under the blight of the first horrid blow. He did not mean to be unfeeling. It was the truth bursting from his unhappy lips.

"I knew Chal would come to this—I knew it," he had said. His arm was about the quivering shoulders of his mother as he said it.

She looked up, a sob breaking in her throat. For a long time she looked into the face of her second son.

"How can you—how dare you say such a thing as that?" she cried, aghast.

He colored, and drew her closer to him.

"I—I didn't mean it," he faltered.

"You have always taken sides against him," began his mother.

"Please, mother," he cried miserably.

"You say this to me now," she went on. "You who are left to take his place in my affection—why, Leslie, I—I—"

Vivian interposed. "Les is upset, mamma darling. You know he loved Challis as deeply as any of us loved him."

specting him. She was beginning to regard him as something more than a lover when Leslie came, so it was different. When their daughter Vivian was born, she was plainly annoyed but wholly respectful. Mr. Wrandall was no longer the lover; he was her lord and master. The head of the house of Wrandall was a person to be looked up to, to be respected and admired by her, for he was a very great man, but he was dear to her only because he was the father of Challis, the firstborn.

"She's never cared for me as she cared for Chal. I'm sorry if I've made it worse."

"See here, Leslie, was Chal so—so—"

"Yes. I meant what I said a while ago. It was sure to happen to him one time or another. Sara's had a lot to put up with."

"Sara! If she had been the right sort of a wife, this never would have happened."

"After all is said and done, Vivie. Sara's in a position to rub it in on us if she's of a mind to do so. She won't do it, of course, but—I wonder if she isn't gloating, just the same."

"Haven't we treated her as one of us?" demanded she, dabbing her handkerchief in her eyes. "Since the wedding, I mean. Haven't we been kind to her?"

"Oh, I think she understands us perfectly," said her brother.

"I wonder what she will do now?" mused Vivian, in that speech casting her sister-in-law out of her narrow little world as one would throw aside a burnt-out match.

"She will profit by experience," said he, with some pleasure in a superior wisdom.

* * * * *

In Mrs. Wrandall's sitting room at the top of the broad stairway sat the family—that is to say, the immediate family—a solemn-faced footman in front of the door that stood fully ajar so that the occupants might hear the words of the minister as they ascended, sonorous and precise, from the hall below. A minister was he who knew the buttered side of his bread. His discourse was to be a beautiful one. He stood at the front of the stairs and faced the assembled listeners in the hall, the drawing room and the entrance, but his infinitely touching words went up one flight and lodged.

Sara Wrandall sat a little to the left of and behind Mrs. Redmond Wrandall, about whom were grouped the three remaining Wrandalls, father, son and daughter, closely drawn together. Well to the fore were Wrandall uncles and cousins and aunts, and one or two carefully chosen blood relatives to the mistress of the house, whose hand had long been set against kinsmen of less exalted promise.

Beside Sara Wrandall, on the small pink divan, sat a stranger in this somber company: a young woman in black, whose pale face was uncovered, and whose lashes were lifted so rarely that one could not know of the deep, real pain that lay behind them, in her Irish blue eyes.

Dinner Stories

She was very stout and was learning roller skating, when she had the misfortune to fall. Several attendants rushed to her side, but were unable to raise her at once. One said, soothingly:

"Well, get you up all right, madam. Do not be alarmed."

"Oh, I'm not alarmed at all, but your floor is so terribly lumpy."

And then from underneath came a small voice which said:

"I'm not a lump; I am an attendant."

The Secret of Health is Elimination of Waste

Every business man knows how difficult it is to keep the pigeon holes and drawers of his desk free from the accumulation of useless papers. Every housewife knows how difficult it is to keep her home free from the accumulation of all manner of useless things. So it is with the body. It is difficult to keep it free from the accumulation of waste matter. Unless the waste is promptly eliminated the machinery of the body soon becomes clogged. This is the beginning of most human ills.

Afterwards the girl said to Leslie when they were quite alone: "She will never forgive you for that, Les. It was a beastly thing to say."

He bit his lip, which trembled.

Want Ad. Results

"Last year I bought a canary," said a little woman to her neighbor the other day. "Then I happened to have a bright idea. As bright ideas were the exception, not the rule with me I decided to follow this particular idea up. I purchased a mate for my canary and started a canary farm. I won't trouble you with details, for it was up-hill work, but I was persistent, and I am fifty-two dollars richer on account of my canary farm. I also have had the experience, pleasure (for it was pleasure to care for the birds) and knowledge that I did not possess a year ago."

"How did I sell them? Why through the want ad columns of my home paper of course. I'd never attempt to dispose of them without advertising. My advertising has disposed of my birds and also given me a place in the eyes of the public as a dealer in birds."

That Woman's time was well used. You can do as well.
